

Individual Disability Income insurance

Want to grow your individual Disability Income (DI) insurance business by learning more about how it can help your clients? Check out this DI product profile to get up-to-speed on its key features.

How it works

An individual DI insurance policy helps your clients protect their most relied-upon asset—their income. An individual DI insurance policy pays a monthly benefit that helps to replace a portion of their income in the event of a disability, so your clients can take comfort in knowing their current lifestyle is better protected from the unexpected.

Target market

- Ages 50 and under
- Occupations with little to no manual duties
- Earns at least $75,000 a year

Premiums

Individual DI insurance premium rates depend on your clients':

- Age
- Occupation
- State of residence
- Selected riders
- Gender
- Tobacco status
- Policy structure
- Discounts

When individual DI insurance is offered as an employee benefit, premiums can be paid by the employer or employee.

Below are three examples of how coverage can be structured to meet your clients' needs and budgets:

How to start the conversation with clients.

Chances are, clients insure their car, home, and personal property, but what about their income? Income helps them to pay for the things that are important and do the things they love. Protecting it can help them get back to what really matters.

Get income protection early. Coverage costs less when clients are young and healthy. As they age, buying a policy becomes more expensive and they may risk not getting coverage due to health issues.

Protecting retirement dreams. Adding DI Retirement Security allows them to continue to save for retirement—and protect the investment in their retirement savings.

Add a personal touch.

Everyone has a unique story. Talk to your clients about your own experience, or how protecting their income is a big part of creating memories that shape their story.
