

Determine foreign eligibility.

Foreign national and foreign resident guidelines

Before you submit a case on a foreign client, you need to make sure they meet the underwriting guidelines. It's important to first understand how we define a client's status:

- Foreign nationals are defined as citizens of another country who may or may not be living in the United States.
- Foreign residents may be U.S. citizens or visa holders who live outside the U.S. more than six months a year. Follow these guidelines when considering applications from foreign nationals:

Guideline <sup>1</sup>	Description
Connection to	Must have an acceptable nexus to the U.S. Examples include:
the U.S.	Owning a home, business, or real estate in the U.S
	• U.S. investments or assets—bank/investment account established at least 90 days prior to application, with account value of at least $1 million after initial first year premium
	Immediate family living in the U.S.
	• U.S. citizen or married to a U.S. citizen who resides in the U.S.
	Verifiable U.S. tax liability that will support the need for insurance
Documents	Must have a U.S. Social Security number, tax ID number, or complete IRS form W-8BEN. Must provide a copy of the insured and owner's passport. Non-U.S. citizens residing in the U.S. must possess a Green Card or a valid U.S. Visa. A copy of the Green Card or Visa must be submitted with the application, and acceptance of it will depend on the type of Visa held, when the individual entered the U.S., and expiration date. We suggest checking with a foreign national specialist prior to application submission for the type of Visa your client has.
Need for coverage/financial information	Submit a cover letter explaining a clearly definable need for U.S. life insurance. Complete financial information from a disinterested third party must be provided. We will consider total assets (U.S. and Global).
Questionnaires	Foreign National Questionnaire must be completed and submitted.
